

ABSTRACT

A transferring device usable in installations for cutting and/or bending metal bars, particularly bars intended for concrete reinforcement. The device comprises one or more gripping pliers movable along mutually orthogonal axes of an overhead traveling crane arrangement. Each set of pliers is carried by an articulated wrist.